ENG. AHMED HAMMAD
QUALITY EXPERT

Business in brief

Hammad trains and coaches numerous teams on Agile, Scrum and eXtreme programming. Ahmed also trains and coaches organizations to apply ITIL best practices and solve their business and technical issues. In addition, he trains and coaches teams to help them get certifies in CMMI L2 and L3 using Agile methodology

Organizations

Ahmed is working at SECC as a Quality Expert for about 6 years, consulted many small, medium and large organization in Agile, ITIL and CMMI.

Ahmed is actively researching and developing Agile and ITIL service offerings to foster the deployment of Agile and ITIL in Egypt.

Ahmed worked for 9 years in Sakhr & Harf as programmer, project manager and unit manager. As a result, he has extensive software development and management experience in Desktop applications, database applications, Web-based applications, Mobile applications, and embedded applications. This helps him to guide software process improvement with deep understanding to the technical and management challenges.

Awards

Ahmed's work was appreciated from all organizations and individuals he worked with starting from HARF, one of the projects he was managing was honored as "Best Internet Site" in 2000 from Windows magazine in Dubai Gitex.

Certifications and designations

- ITIL Expert in ITIL Service management from BCS, UK Cabinet Office.
- Certified PSP Engineer from Carnegie Mellon University.
- Bsc. of Computer Engineering in 1993

Sources/References

Ahmed has many articles published in the Egypt SPIN covering software development topics and many other Process Improvement topics. He also produced the training materials of some Agile technical topics such as Unit Test, Test Driven Development and Continuous Integration